SOLVAY BRUSSELS SCHOOL OF ECONOMICS AND MANAGEMENT (SBS-EM)

Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management (SBS-EM) was created in 1903 by Ernest Solvay, a well-known humanist and Belgian captain of industry. Today, the School is proud to be part of the Université libre de Bruxelles (ULB), one of the most eminent universities in Belgium with 35,000 students/year, 13 Faculties and 6 Nobel prizes.

SBS-EM honours the main goals set by its founders, namely: training leaders of tomorrow, men and women, with strong decision-making skills, multi-disciplinary vision and focused on quantitative and scientific approaches.

SBS-EM has an excellent reputation (AMBA & EQUIS accredited) in the region. It's known for its excellent students, quality and rigour of its programmes, strong ties with business & society and dynamic alumni network.

The school offers a wide range of programmes, from Bachelor degrees to executive education and Ph.D.

TESTIMONIALS

"It has been 2 years since Pfizer proudly partnered with one of the best business schools in Belgium. Together, Solvay and Pfizer welcomed more than 40 students from all over the globe. This partnership is an excellent opportunity for the students and Pfizer. We immerse them in the world of pharmaceuticals and engage in insightful discussions with them. Pfizer learns from these bright young people bringing their diverse, international background and views to our company."

"Our EMBA Programme joins the SBS-EM for a one-week IST trip to Brussels since 2016. During our excursion we learn how to do business in Europe. Company visits as well as inside views of the EU and their politics complement our study trip. The SBS-EM impresses above all with its network and its uncomplicated organisation. The lecturers are extremely motivating and provide practical insights greatly appreciated by our participants. The modern infrastructure in a central location rounds off the pleasant, informative Study Trip to Brussels."
